Japanese Fire On British Flagship

Japanese Air Attacks On British Ships

Shanghai, Dec. 12. The concentration of British shipping a couple of miles up river, from Nanking, including H.M.S. Scarab and H.M.S. Cricket, were subjected to three separate Japanese air attacks between 1.30 and 3 p.m. this afternoon. There were no casualties; therefore, it is believed there were no hits.

H.M.S. Scarab and H.M.S. Cricket returned fire with anti-aircraft armament comprising machine-guns and pom-poms.

The Admiralty, Foreign Office and Admiral Sir Charles Little, Commander-in-Chief of the China Station, who is en route to Hong Kong from Shanghai on H.M.S. Falmouth, were informed of the attacks and representations were made to the local Japanese military and naval authorities. The ships involved in the attacks went up river from Nanking when the Japanese began attacking the Chinese capital.—Reuter.

"OUR POOR" DAY

Street Sale Of Roses To-Day

Roses will be sold in the streets to-day in aid of the poor of Hong Kong who are benefited by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. Many voluntary sellers will be on the streets on both sides of the harbour and the organisers of the collection hope that the proceeds will be sufficient to enable them to continue their benefactions to the poor on the same scale as before.

The distress this year, on account of the rise in prices, has become much more acute than in previous years, but on account of the many additional calls on the generosity of the public, it is very hard to get adequate funds with which to meet it.

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul is very grateful to the public who gave such hearty support to the Bazaar, which it held last month, and it hopes for a similar response on this occasion. This is the only public appeal on the streets made by the Society during the year.

The roses are all of local manufacture and, as the Society has no paid helpers, everything that is collected goes to the needy persons of the Colony on whose behalf it is begged.

GOLF TITLE FINALISTS

O. E. C. Marton and D. S. Edward will meet in the final of the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club as a result of yesterday's play at Fanling.

In the semi-finals Marton beat A. E. Lissaman 2 and 1 while Edward defeated D. S. Robb 2 and 1.

HEAVY BOMBING NEAR BRITISH BORDER

Further Japanese Attack On K.-C.R. Line

COACHES BLOWN TO BITS

Canton, Dec. 12. Twenty-six Japanese naval planes again subjected the Canton-Kowloon Railway and Canton-Hankow Railway to heavy bombing this morning in revenge for the loss of the bomber and damage to another one yesterday morning.

Over thirty bombs were dropped on the Canton-Kowloon Railway in the vicinity of Pingwu, 10 miles from the New Territories, and over twenty bombs were dropped on Laitung station on the Canton-Hankow Railway. Telephone and telegraph wire along both railways were badly damaged.

Taking off from a seaplane carrier off Tongkwan, the machines were reported to have fired their machine-guns on many villages and towns they passed before reaching the railways. The casualties by the strafing of the Japanese are not yet known.

The first alarm was sounded here at 8 a.m. to-day, followed by an urgent one at 8.25 a.m. The "all clear" signal was given out at 12.35 p.m., only to be followed by another alarm ten minutes later. Four planes were seen over Chungshan district on a reconnaissance flight.

Two third class coaches of the Canton-Kowloon Railway at Wutung, 15 miles east of Canton, were blown to pieces yesterday afternoon when two bombs were dropped on it. Before releasing the bombs, the two Japanese planes strafed the train, dotting it with many holes.

Fortunately there were no casualties, as the passengers left the train to take cover elsewhere. The slow train left here for Kowloon. Various parts of the railway were destroyed by the bombing yesterday.—International News Agency.

A Central News report adds that at 8 a.m. two planes flew to Sheklung and Cheungmuktau stations and dropped several bombs. Cheungmuktau was subjected to another bombing at 1.03 p.m. when planes dropped six bombs, doing damage to rails.

New Japanese Air Line To Pacific Islands

The Communications Ministry has announced that this long-planned commercial airline will come into existence this month.

It will start with airmail service, and will begin carrying passengers early next year.—International News Agency.

Hall Patch, the Ambassador's Financial Adviser, were travelling from Nanking to Shanghai. The British Ambassador was seriously injured and it was only on Saturday that Sir Hugh sailed for England to complete his convalescence before returning to China in the summer.

Meanwhile, the United States gunboat Panay, America's floating Embassy at Nanking, has gone further up river and is now 23 miles from Nanking.

Only fourteen Americans and one Briton, Mr. L. G. Smith, Reuter's correspondent, are at present in Nanking.

Japanese Attempts Fail To Dislodge Chinese From Strategic Points

INTENSITY OF NANKING FIGHTING ECLIPSES BLOODIEST BATTLES ON SHANGHAI FRONT

Nanking, Dec. 12: Chinese forces defending Nanking held most of their ground to-day despite severe punishment administered mainly by relays of aeroplanes and batteries firing from the Purple Mountain which overlooks the city. In the face of machine-gun and trench mortar fire from the Chinese, Japanese troops tried to consolidate their foothold inside the Kwanghsia Gate and also their advance on the Chungshan Gate. According to a Japanese report, Japanese troops captured the Chungshan Gate in the southern wall of the city. All Japanese attempts have so far failed to dislodge the Chinese from a number of strategic points around the city. Japanese tanks and other mechanised units are playing an active part in the Japanese onslaught but the intensity of the Chinese resistance is making the advance most difficult as well as expensive.

In keeping the Japanese at bay the Chinese are suffering heavy losses and according to some reports the fighting is of an intensity eclipsing even the bloodiest battles on the Shanghai front.

General Tang Sheng-chi is reported to be supervising the operations of the Chinese forces from a tank which can be seen rumbling through the streets of Nanking all day long. General Tang Sheng-chi has gone practically sleepless since the siege began. At dawn to-day Japanese batteries subjected Nanking to an intensive bombardment and then at 9 a.m. aeroplanes joined in the attack concentrating mainly on the Chinese defences along the inner fringe of the city's towering walls. The Japanese Command which wants to cut losses as far as possible has ordered men to keep under cover as much as possible until the elaborate defence works of the city are reduced by land and air attacks. Meanwhile, the greater part of the Japanese force which captured Wuhu is said to be heading for Nanking.—Reuter.

"BLOODY STRUGGLE"

Tokyo, Dec. 12: "A bloody struggle" is what the "Asahi Shimbun" correspondent describes the unparalleled ferocity of the battle around Nanking. With very severe fighting going on the Japanese are endeavouring to increase their 100 metre footing inside the south-east gate also to capture strong Tochiwa positions in the vicinity of the Sun Yat-sen Mausoleum on the Purple Mountain.

Failure of press reports or claims of progress indicates the intensity of the struggle.

A "Domei" correspondent at the south-east gate wires that Japanese squadrons intensively bombed the walls, city gates and interior positions from the air at 9 a.m. for an hour in an endeavour to break down the Chinese defence.

Meanwhile, Tokyo, and other cities are celebrating the Japanese success in effecting an entry.—Reuter.

PRES. HOOVER
HARD AGROUNDPassengers Safely
Landed

Manila, Dec. 11.
Information has been received that the Dollar Line's President Hoover, with 650 passengers aboard, has grounded on a small island south of Formosa.

Reuter.

SALVAGE WORK

The mishap occurred sometime after midnight yesterday, the first message being received in Hong Kong at 12.22 a.m. This stated that the vessel was in no immediate danger, although it was realised then that assistance would be required if the vessel were to get off.

Several ships including the Prussien and the Empress of Asia answered the call for aid, and the Prussien stood by the Hoover for several hours. The Empress of Asia, after speeding towards Holsho-To Island for several hours, is thought to have been informed of the safe landing of the passengers early yesterday afternoon and to have resumed her voyage to Kobe from Hong Kong.

A salvage tug, carrying workmen and divers, left the Colony for Formosa, on Saturday night. Mr. T. B. Wilson, Hong Kong manager of the Dollar Line, also left at midnight, last night, and is expected in Formosa on Tuesday.

The President McKinley is now proceeding to the rescue of the passengers. She has on board a large number of workmen to assist in the jettisoning of the Hoover's cargo should it be found necessary.

DISTRESS CALLS 'REPLIED

Tokyo, Dec. 11.

A 10,000-ton Japanese cruiser cruising near Formosa replied to the Hoover's distress calls.

The cruiser, whose name is not revealed, has reached the stranded vessel and had taken off 200 passengers to Miyake Island, in Formosa, where they are being cared for by the crew. — Reuter.

NAVAL AID

Manila, Dec. 11.

All the passengers on the President Hoover have been safely landed on Holshoto Island according to a message received by the Dollar Line office from Captain Yardley.

Two United States destroyers left the Philippines this morning for the scene, while the U.S.S. Canopus is expected to proceed shortly from Manila. — Reuter.

CHEATED MAN

Telling a young unemployed Chinese that there was a place open for him in the Royal Naval Dockyard, Cheung Ping-fong, 27, collected $4 from him to "pay for his uniform," early this month, and went off to settle matters.

The would-be Dockyard employee, Tam Ki-shin, did not see Cheung again until Thursday, when the latter admitted that he had hoaxed Tam.

Appearing before Mr. K. Keen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday, Cheung admitted two previous convictions for the same offence, and was fined $50 or two months' hard labour.

OPIUM DIVAN KEEPER
FINED

Yeung Hop, 35, and Chan Sul, 19, both unemployed, appeared at the Central Magistracy on Saturday following a raid by the police on No. 23 Wing Lok Street, first floor, and were charged before Mr. R. Edwards with possession of prepared opium and keeping an opium divan.

Yeung was fined $200 or two months' imprisonment, on the first charge, and on the second count was fined $150 or one month's imprisonment. The second defendant was discharged.

EVADED BUS FARES

Moi Wing-kong, 17, student, was charged before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Magistracy on Saturday with evading payment of his fare on a bus on Friday afternoon. He was asked by the conductor for his fare, but Moi replied that he was a monthly-ticket holder. When asked to produce the ticket, he could not do so. He was fined $25.

Falling to appear before Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at the Central Magistracy on Saturday on a charge of travelling on a China Motor bus on Friday without paying his fare, Yu Hang, 28, salesman, of No. 4, Peking Road, first floor, had his bail of $25 estreated.

French Air Minister Pierre Cot claims France has faster planes than Britain or Germany.

FRENCH AIR
ESTIMATESBIG INCREASE:
SEVERE CRITICISM

Paris, December 12.

The 1938 Air estimates approximating £10,000,000 passed the Chamber by 523 votes to 1. This represents an increase of £5,500,000 as compared with 1937.

The debate was marked by severe criticism of the French air force, the critics urging higher expenditure and faster production, declared that foreign bombers and pursuit planes were sixty miles an hour faster than the French machines.

The Air Minister, M. Pierre Cot, replied that France had bombers and pursuers capable of 300 m.p.h. which were faster than any British or German planes. He pointed out that the British Air Ministry had disposed of sums three times higher than the French. The Deputy alleged that between July 1936 and August 1937, France had sent 540 aeroplanes to Spain while Russia had sent 437 and Holland 110. — Reuter.

Colony's Importance
StressedFormer 'Daily Press' Editor Quoted On Defence Of Last 'Open Door'

London, Dec. 10.
The periodical, "Great Britain and the East," features an article by a former Far Eastern journalist, Mr. R. T. Barrett, which draws attention to the vital importance of Hong Kong as the "solitary remaining bar to Japanese domination in the Far East now that the Customs in Shanghai are in the Japanese grip."

"So long as Hong Kong remains a great centre of Anglo-Chinese culture, a trade depot and a financial and British naval base, Japan can never feel she is able to do exactly what she likes with China," observes the author.

The writer urges that Hong Kong must be made safe against aggression, especially against aircraft from Formosa. The keystone of British policy now and in the future must be proper defence of the integrity of Hong Kong as the last "open door" into China.

Reuter.
Mr. R. T. Barrett, the writer of this article, will be well remembered in Hong Kong, his last post here being that of Night Editor of the "South China Morning Post." Formerly he was editor of "The Hong Kong Daily Press."

GALLANT DEFENCE OF THE CAPITAL

Chinese Make Fine Show Against Attackers

Nanking, Dec. 11.
Is it Nanking's destiny to become another Alcazar?

Foreign newspaper correspondents sticking grimly to their posts in China's capital were asking themselves this question to-night, after witnessing a day of hectic fighting in which the grim determination of the Chinese defenders had resulted in the smashing of the fury of the Japanese onslaughts at all points.

Magnificent is the only word to describe the Chinese stand to-day. Their record was one of complete triumph, gained it is true at a heavy cost, under a storm of artillery fire and aerial bombing, but with the Japanese, too, suffering disastrous losses in desperate efforts to carry the Chinese machine-gun posts by storm.

Nowhere in the city had the Japanese secured any advantage despite wave upon wave of assaults. On the other hand, they were thrust back at strategic points from ground previously gained.

Outstanding episode in a day marked by extreme heroism was the smashing of a violent Japanese attack at the south gate, in an action which was nothing less than a severe defeat for the Japanese.

TANKS CHARGE

This particular rush was led by four tanks, which crashed their way through the south gate shortly after ten o'clock.

In a few moments, the forces were locked in a death-grip which ended only when the four Japanese tanks had been disabled, their crews killed, and the survivors among the infantry were in full flight through the south gate.

Everywhere the same spirit of determination had manifested itself. There is no sign of retreat, or thought of retreat.

Sanguinary fighting is also continuing outside the city walls, where some 200,000 provincial troops are engaged in heroic attempts to break up the Japanese forces to a halt.

It was noted, however, that the provincial troops are slowly withdrawing men across to the Pukow side of the Yangtze, and it is thought likely that this process will be speeded up, leaving only the Central Government troops inside the walls to defend the capital. — Transocean News Service.

SEVERE CLASHES

Hankow, Dec. 11.
According to Chinese despatches received to-day, severe fighting is raging at five of Nanking's city gates, where the Japanese, aided by aircraft, artillery and tanks, are severely pounding the Chinese defenses in a determined effort to capture the city.

The heaviest engagement is going on outside Chunghua Men, or south gate, where the Chinese are said to be stubbornly holding on to forts on top of a small hill known as the Yu Hua Tai, which is nationally famous for its beautiful transparent coloured pebbles, hence the name, "Petals Rained from Heaven."

Three forts on top of the hill guard the entrance to the south gate.

Meanwhile, according to Chinese reports, Japanese troops have occupied Purple Mountain, where the Mausoleum of Sun Yat-sen is situated, and are attempting to storm the Chungshan and Taiping gates of the city.

The Chungshan Gate is on Nanking's famous Chungshan Road, which goes through the gate into the Sun Yat-sen Mausoleum Park and the Mausoleum.

The Taiping Gate is situated slightly north of the Chungshan Gate.

TOKYO PLANS CELEBRATIONS

Million Children To Take Part

Tokyo, Dec. 11.
Mammoth celebrations are planned immediately and broadcast announce Japanese occupation of Nanking.

A million school-children, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, students, Y.M.C.A. members, Reservists' Associations, bankers' employees and members of the Stock Exchange in Tokyo will participate in general revelries, processions and lantern parades to the Imperial Palace.

The War and Navy Ministries, the Italian and German Embassies and shop fronts in all Japanese cities will be beflagged.

Enthusiasm has reached its highest pitch in Osaka, Kyoto and Kobe, where the citizens, more impatient than those of Tokyo, have already held big flag processions.

Flags and lanterns are enjoying a brisk sale. — Reuter.

PURPLE MOUNTAIN CAPTURED

It was the place where the Manchukuo Imperial army, under the command of Hseng Kuo-fang, finally captured Nanking after a siege lasting ten years, by dynamiting the city wall.

Japanese capture of Purple Mountain at this early stage has surprised Chinese circles, as the mountain was strongly fortified.

Occupation of the mountain gives the Japanese complete command of the city, since the mountain towers above the capital.

From the top the Japanese can direct gunfire on any part of the city. — Reuter.

RENEWED ATTACK

Shanghai, Dec. 11.
According to Japanese reports, Japanese forces launched a fresh offensive against Nanking at 10 o'clock this morning, supported by an intensive aerial and artillery bombardment.

BRITISH NAVAL REARMAMENT

London, Dec. 11.
The keels of the last three of seven 1,050-ton submarines for construction of which the present naval programme provides, were laid recently, according to an official Admiralty statement issued yesterday.

It is thought in some quarters that the number of British submarines will be greatly increased in the near future, and it is asserted that the new Navy Estimates will provide for construction of a far greater number of submarines than were built in the current year.

It is pointed out that Italy has approximately 102 submarines, and is likely to build more in the near future.

Generally speaking, however, Britain's naval rearmament is making satisfactory progress.

Contracts for construction of the last warships for which the current programme provides—four 8,000-ton cruisers of the "Fiji" class—will be placed with various shipyards this month.

Some anxiety is said to be existent in official quarters, however, concerning the question of personnel for warships now under construction, since it is considered doubtful whether a sufficient number of trained officers and men will be available for manning the new ships on their completion. — Transocean.

Japanese columns, preceded by tanks, advanced from three directions against the walls, which at many points have been reduced to smoking masses of broken masonry.

The Chinese are offering stubborn resistance from strongly fortified points in the city.

Japanese reports allege that gas shells were used by the Chinese last night before the Chinese counter-attack.

Meanwhile, foreign reports confirm Japanese occupation of Wuhu, on the Yangtze. — Reuter.

CASTLECRY RAILWAY DISASTER

Fire Hinders Rescue Work

London, Dec. 10.
In one of the worst railway accidents of recent years, 34 people are believed to have lost their lives when two trains, one from Edinburgh and the other from Dundee, collided at Castlecary to-day on the London and North-Eastern Railway.

Twenty-six bodies have been recovered and others are being exhumated from the mass of wreckage. At least 40 are injured in this, the worst train disaster since 1915 when the Gretna Green disaster took place.

One train ran into the rear of the other. Villagers rushed to the railway station to help the victims. They used improvised stretchers pending the arrival of ambulances across the snow-bound countryside from nearby towns.

An earlier official announcement of the death toll placed the number of victims at 24, but more bodies were believed to be in the wreckage.

COACHES SMASHED

A storm was raging when the Edinburgh-Glasgow express crashed into the rear of the stationary local passenger train from Dundee. The engine of the express was thrown down an embankment and two coaches were telescoped and smashed to pieces.

Terrible scenes followed, dead and injured passengers lying in wrecked compartments and in the snow beside the line. Buses were requisitioned to take the injured to the hospitals and improvised stretchers were used pending the arrival of the ambulances.

Passengers on the express are reported to have included a number of Cameron Highlanders on Christmas leave from Catterick.

The wreckage was set on fire to provide light for the rescuers. One survivor said that before the crash he saw a man running on the

PREMIER TO MAKE STATEMENT AFTER OCCUPATION OF NANKING

Tokyo, Dec. 11.
When the Japanese complete occupation of Nanking, the Premier, Prince Konoye, is expected to make a statement urging the people to unite solidly in preparation for protracted hostilities.

The Premier will also draw popular attention to the "heavier responsibilities now devolving on the shoulders of Japan for establishment of peace in East Asia as the result of collapse of the Nanking Government, which has been reduced to the status of a mere local administration."

The Japanese newspapers state that hostilities will go on with the fall of Nanking.

The "Kokumin Shimbun" says that the fall of Nanking will mean "collapse of the Nanking administration but will impose heavier responsibilities on Japan in connection with protracted hostilities."

The "Yomiuri Shimbun" says that Japan "cannot be satisfied with a patched-up peace or an inconclusive measure as long as the Kuomintang, whose abiding principle consists of antagonising and excluding Japan, remains in power, even if Mr. Wang Ching-wei replaces General Chiang Kai-shek."

The "Nichi-Nichi" congratulates the Japanese forces who have reached Nanking, "which has disturbed peace and order in the Far East for the past ten years as the base of anti-Japanese operations."

The journal, however, emphasises the necessity of following up the victory.

The "Hochi Shimbun" analyses the Chinese inclination for protracted hostilities, and expresses the opinion that this is due partly to Chinese expectation of British aid and partly to the growing pressure of the Communists.

The "Asahi Shimbun" states that the Japanese military achievement is worthy of celebration, but warns the people against intoxication over victory, pointing out that the situation stands at an important turning point. — Reuter.

PRINCE YASUHIKO ASAKA TO COMMAND FORCES

Tokyo, Dec. 11.

SALVAGE WORK HINDERED

London, Dec. 11.
Salvage work in the Scottish train wreck was hindered by fire which broke out among the wreckage at midnight, necessitating the call of a fire brigade in order to prevent bodies from being burnt.

At midnight 24 bodies had been taken to the mortuary and eight were believed still to be in the wreckage. — Reuter.

'THE AMBIGUOUS' • 'LEGAL STATUS'

Tokyo, Dec. 11.
Chinese territory now occupied by Japanese troops will be placed under military administration, the semi-official "Yomiuri Shimbun" predicts to-day in an editorial dealing with "the ambiguous legal status" of this area.

The newspaper declares that as far as the current incident is concerned there are no proper provisions in international law binding relations between two parties or between Japan and third parties. Under the present circumstances it is admissible for the army of occupation to create organs necessary for the maintenance of local peace and order, and to exercise civil administration, including such functions as taxation and education. — Reuter.

Robert Louis Stevenson wrote of the Harbour of Apia, Samoa—"The formidable surf of the Pacific thunders both outside and in. There are days when speech is difficult in the chambers of the shore-side houses: days when no boats can land, and when men are broken by stroke of sea against the wharves. As I write these words, three, miles in the mountains, the sound of that vexed harbour hums in my ears. Such a creek in my native coast of Scotland would scarce be dignified with the mark of an anchor on the chart. But with the mechanical regularity of the winds in the Pacific Apia forms, for eleven months out of the twelve, a safe, if hardly a commodious port. Of danger, when it comes, the glass gives timely warning." It was here in March, 1899, that there lay a considerable squadron of men-of-war—American, German, and her Majesty's ship Calypso, commanded by Captain Henry Coey Kane.
This story tells of danger and a miraculous escape. Production by John Cheate.

A musical comedy goes to the head of the class among Paramount's successes for the year with the release of that hilariously funny comedy romance, "This Way Please", which is showing at the Alhambra Theatre to day.
The picture marks the screen debut of Mary Livingstone, Jack Benny's Mary, to be exact, whose infectious laugh has endeared her to millions of radio fans these several years. Miss Livingstone's laugh rings true. Also seen for the first time on the screen are Fibber McGee and Molly, who are

THE PRISONER OF ZENDA

Ronald Colman is at the King's Theatre to-day in David O. Selznick's production of "The Prisoner of Zenda," the famous Anthony Hope romance of love and intrigue in the royal courts of Europe.
Madeleine Carroll and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., head the imposing supporting cast, which includes Mary Astor, C. Aubrey Smith, Raymond Massey, David Niven and others.
Colman plays a dual role in this colourful tale, appearing both as the adventurous Rudolf Rassendyll and as King Rudolf V. the monarch he impersonates.

100 MEN AND A GIRL

The little girl, Deanna Durbin, whose voice charmed you and whose screen performance won the acclaim of audiences and critics in "Three Smart Girls," has climbed to the rank of stardom in Universal's comedy drama with music, "100 men and a girl," which has its run at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

A brilliant figure in the music world, Leopold Stokowski, portrays the role of an orchestra conductor. In addition to appearing in the film as an actor, the noted maestro of the Philadelphia Symphony has developed a new method of recording music for the screen, which will be used for the first time in "100 Men and a Girl." The effect he has achieved gives a new magic depth to musical tones. Music comes to the ears of the audiences from varying distances, giving perspective to the sound of the orchestral offerings.

HULLO HONG KONG

This Week's Revue

In the gaily decorated China Fleet Club Theatre, the company of "Hullo Hong Kong" will introduce themselves to the Colony at 9.15 on Wednesday and Thursday. The show, which is being presented by a young Naval officer, is played by a cast of brother officers, ladies, and guest-artists from the Lower Deck and ashore, and comprises fifteen items, lasting two hours.

In a varied programme, some outstanding items include a high-kicking chorus, some impersonations, a gruesome dramatic interlude, several singing and comedy turns most of which will be surprising in their novelty, and, as the chief item in the programme, an hilarious burlesque on the old-world "melodrammer" with hero, heroine, villain and child in evidence. As befits the time of year, there will be an air of festivity in the theatre and a colourful Yuletide scene has been added to the finale in which Father Christmas will lead the action, including the orchestra and stage staff, the company numbers nearly fifty, the orchestra being the Royal Marine Band of H.M.S. Cumberland.

Proceeds will go to Toc H for the Sailingpun Chinese Boys' Club and to the Naval Dockyard Chapel for his fund for Seamen's welfare.
Seats are still available at Messrs. Mottrie and Co., and the ship's office, H.M.S. Westcott, but in view of the short time before the first night on Wednesday, intending seatholders should take an early opportunity of making their reservations.
H.E. the Governor and Lady Northcote have very kindly consented to be present at the opening performance.

New Minority Agreement

BY W. L.

Since German history has always been intimately connected with the history of Poland (partition of Poland under Frederick the Great, Saxony's King, also King of Poland etc), it is not astonishing that standing expressions connected with Poland should have entered into German mentality. One of these standing expressions was the sentence, "that is truly Polish fashion," indicating a state of disorderliness.

When, therefore, in 1934 the German Government and the Government of Marshal Pilsudski entered into an agreement regulating the question of German minorities in Germany, and declaring that two Governments pledged themselves to refrain from using force to settle any possible differences of opinion, the world at large sighed with relief. Had there not always been the question of Danzig, where Poland sought to gain controlling influence, and the territory of Silesia, which was cut from the Reich as a result of the Treaty of Versailles? European Chancelleries had been continually on the alert, watching the German-Polish frontier, the Polish Corridor, as one of the most dangerous points on the map of Europe.

But all was not as well as it seemed. Marshal Pilsudski died, and with him one of the firm believers in a Polish-German understanding. It seemed as though his successors would again sacrifice the understanding with Germany for a closer co-operation with France, the country that had, until 1933, been the great friend of Poland.

ANXIOUS PROBLEM

The political re-modelling of the Free State of Danzig put a severe test on Polish statesmanship, and it often looked as though the world would see "trouble in the Baltic."

Many minor and major instances during the last few years have again made European statesmen watch the "Corridor" anxiously, and of late it had seemed as though after all, there could be no lasting peace in that part of the world.

And then, suddenly, amidst a war in Spain, quarrel over Non-Intervention, a grave crisis in the Far East, unrest all over the world, there came news from Berlin and Warsaw that the question of minorities in these two states had been settled!

TOLERANCE

The minorities were assured the right to use their own language freely, in private and business life as well as in the press and at public gatherings, and they were assured that no inconvenience would be forced upon them because of this. Minorities were permitted to associate, in private as well as in cultural and economic spheres. They were furthermore allowed to erect and maintain schools where their languages would be taught, and their religious practice in the mother-tongue was specifically permitted. They were free to live according to their principles and to maintain and develop their own charity organisations.

With this spontaneous agreement between the two states, Europe can once again concentrate its attention upon other matters. Danzig and the "Corridor" can be dismissed from the minds of troubled statesmen, and in the interest of world peace the responsible leaders of Germany and Poland must be lauded for their timely and prudent action.

CHINESE PLANES ACTIVE

Hankow, Dec. 11.
Chinese air force planes were despatched yesterday afternoon to Nanking to bomb the Japanese forces attacking the Chinese capital, and also to make observations.
According to the pilots of the Chinese "machines," which circled above Nanking at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, tremendous fires, both inside and outside the city walls, were visible from the sky.—

FURIOUS BATTLE RAGING FOR NANKING

Defenders Desperately Resist Invaders

Nanking, Dec. 11.
The fate of the city appears to be sealed. Chinese soldiers, running the gauntlet of a vigorous Japanese offensive from three sides, are making a last desperate stand to defend the nation's capital against capture by the Japanese.

According to a Japanese report, early this morning the situation of the Chinese defenders was "extremely critical," although their staunch stand is being continued despite the incessant pounding of their positions by Japanese artillery and the bombardment of communication lines and concentration points by endless relays of Japanese planes.

Blood ran dark on the cobbled streets of Nanking last night as the Chinese fought desperately against the advancing Japanese.

According to Japanese reports the honour of being the first Japanese troops to enter the historic walled Inner City went to a force commanded by Colonel Wakizaka.

DEATH TRAP

When the news of the success of Colonel Wakizaka's troops reached the main forces beyond the walls, there were lusty shouts of "Banzai" from thousands of throats, rising above the unceasing din of rifles, machine-guns, trench mortars and howitzers. An hour later field wireless brought congratulations from General Matsui, who added: "I highly appreciate the successful attainment of your difficult task."

Japanese sources state that seven other bodies of Japanese troops with a large number of tanks are now attempting to force their way into the city from the north-east and south.

A way of retreat is still open to the defenders across the Yangtze but unless they slipped out during the night, Nanking is expected to be a death trap for them to-day, when the Japanese aeroplanes resume their activity.

Chinese circles admit that further defence has no military value, but is important as a symbol that China will resist. They assert that the loss of Nanking is like the loss of Shanghai. It marks only a phase of the war.

"HANDS OFF" POLICY

Japanese Press Advises
Third Parties

Shanghai, Dec. 11.

Reviewing the issues involved in the current Chinese customs problem, the Shanghai "United News," an influential Japanese newspaper, advises third parties to exercise a "hands off" policy in the matter.

This journal asserts that it was shown it was clearly understood abroad that Japan is negotiating with the Customs as an organ of the Chinese Government, but not with third parties, regarding the control of the customs.

Any attempt by persons of other nationalities, whatever their positions, at interference in negotiations now proceeding between Japan and the Chinese Customs authorities "should be flatly rejected by the Japanese," this paper adds.

Japan, however, is not disregarding the interests and vested rights of third parties.

The newspaper declares: "Viewed in this light we cannot but consider any move taken by third parties interfering with Sino-Japanese negotiations or exerting authorities in order to protect illegal pressure on the Customs their own interests and vested rights, as an unfriendly act towards Japan."

Washington, Dec. 10.

Mr. Alfred London, former Governor of Kansas, who unsuccessfully contested the last Presidential election, stated that he would not be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1940. He would not accept the nomination if it were offered him, he said.

Governor London was Republican nominee in the 1936 election and was heavily defeated by President Roosevelt.

AMAZING HEROISM

Of Nanking Defenders

Shanghai, Dec. 11

Japanese here confidently, though entirely without reason, believe the present battle for Nanking will prove decisive.

The Japanese are concentrating their main attack on the South Gate, where the Chinese defenders are giving ample testimony of their determination to fight to the last.

The Taiping Gate, south-east of Lotus Lake, is also the scene of another bloody struggle. This point is evidently considered by the Japanese as the most vulnerable sector of the defence.

The Chinese fight is truly heroic, and in street fighting, at which the Chinese soldier excels, they have taken a heavy toll of the Japanese in spite of the latter's mechanised superiority.

The Kuanghua Gate, which fell into Japanese hands yesterday, was re-captured this morning.

Chinese reports claim that the first Japanese onslaught, which was to have resulted in a runaway victory according to Japanese calculations, has definitely broken down.

TENACITY AND STOICISM

While this is possibly a trifle too optimistic, it is certain that the Japanese will soon have to re-organise their forces, many of the attacking columns having been literally decimated.

The Japanese, in their intense bombardment this morning which preceded the infantry attack, used trench mortars in addition to howitzers.

The Japanese air force is also being overworked, and one air raid follows the other in quick succession.

This, combined with the three-fold infantry attack, is demonstrating to civilians in the so-called safety zone the frightfulness of large-scale modern warfare.

There is no doubt that the Chinese are inferior to the enemy in equipment, but their tenacity and stoicism are beyond compare, and they are undoubtedly teaching the Japanese many lessons.

KEEPING ARMY STANDARD HIGH

London, Dec. 11.

Speaking at Devonport this afternoon the War Secretary said the army was growing in size every day. The number of recruits between August and November showed an increase of 2,489 over that for the corresponding period of 1936.

It had to be remembered that British standards for entry into the army were considerably higher, according to his information, than in any other European country. If anyone had the impression Great Britain had difficulty in attracting recruits to the army they ought to be told there was no lack of applicants. The difficulty resided in the high standard the applicants had to attain. Last year, for example, 18,000 men were rejected on medical and physical grounds.

Later in the day in a speech at Plymouth, Mr. Hope Bellish was able to reveal that the recruiting for the territorial army in November constituted a new record. He said that 4,000 was the largest number taken in for any November since the war.

UNIFICATION OF CHINA

Bishop Yu's Appeal
To The Conscience
Of The World

Paris, Dec. 11.

Unification of China was practically completed, owing to the tireless efforts of General Chiang Kai-shek, when his work was interrupted by the present conflict, declared Bishop Yu Pin of Nanking in a statement to the press here yesterday.

Communism had suffered a decisive defeat in China, he declared, and no-one seriously considered beginning a new Communist experiment.

The anti-communistic movement in China grew out of the people themselves, since Communism contradicted every Chinese tradition.

It was obvious that Communism did not provide the real grounds for Japanese invasion, but was being used as a pretext for justifying an unjust action.

The Generalissimo had always evidenced open sympathy for Catholic missions and Catholicism in general in China.

Chinese were not divided in any way on the religious question.

ECONOMIC VIEWPOINT

Praising the patriotism of his countrymen, he related the story of the poor coolie who, in thirty years of hard work, had accumulated $200 but turned it over to the state immediately the appeal was made to the nation.

Declaring that the Chinese people preferred death to humiliation, he emphasised that right would triumph in the end.

Fall of Nanking would by no means signify that resistance was broken, since from the economic viewpoint this was by no means the vital centre of China, and an unlimited expanse still remained in the hands of the Generalissimo.

The Chinese people earnestly desired peace and order but there was no thought other than to resist till the last.

Discussing conditions prevailing especially in hospitals, he declared that an extreme dearth of medical supplies existed, but that nurses and missionaries were carrying on in heroic manner.

He announced that he would soon publish a brochure in which he would appeal to the conscience of the world.

COLONY'S WATER SUPPLY

Reservoir Returns For Past Months

The water returns issued by the Waterworks Department show that at the end of November there were 1,917.73 million gallons in the Island reservoirs, compared with 1,742.02 for the corresponding period last year, and 3,272 million gallons in the Mainland waterworks, as against 2,347.63.

As in November last year, a constant supply of water was given to all districts in the Colony and the mainland during the month, when 441.47 million gallons were consumed in the city and hill district by an estimated population of 445,000 at the rate of 33.1 gallons per head per day, as against 441.01 million gallons by an estimate population of 440,500 at 31.1 gallons per head per day in the corresponding period last year.

The consumption in Kowloon and New Kowloon for the month was 270.76 million gallons by an estimated population of 380,000 at the rate of 23 gallons per head per day, compared with 260.95 million gallons by 327,500 inhabitants at 22.6 gallons per head per day in November, 1936.

With the exception of Tytam Intermediate, which was level, all the other Island reservoirs were below overflow; while of those in Kowloon, Shingmun Reception and Kowloon Main were the only ones level.

The reports of the Government Bacteriologist and Analyst show that the quality of the water was excellent.

The total rainfall recorded by the Royal Observatory from January 1 to November 30 was 81.895 inches, which was 12.6 inches more than for the same period last year.

IN BRITISH WATERS?

Japanese Take Customs Boat

The alleged penetration into Hong Kong waters of a Japanese destroyer of No. 23 flotilla in the course of an attack on a Chinese Maritime Customs cruiser just outside the territorial waters of the Colony on Saturday, is occupying the attention of the naval authorities.

According to information to hand the cruiser Cha Hsing, which was commanded by Captain G. Cook, was fired on somewhere in the vicinity of Black Point, which is about two miles outside local waters. Captain Cook sought the safety of the Colony and beached his vessel at Yung Lung Wan, in Deep Water Bay, about two miles from Castle Peak in the New Territories. It is alleged that two shots fired in the course of the chase landed in British territory, and two 4.7 shells, unexploded, were later found by the police on the beach, definitely in British territory.

The crew of the cruiser, having beached their craft, walked towards Lung Ku-tan and, as the cruiser was later sighted outside British waters proceeding under her own steam, it is believed that the Japanese must have men in motor-boats to the beach, thereby entering the waters of the Colony, refloated her and sailed her off.

SMUGGLING

The authoritative opinion has been expressed that the illegal traffic of opium and heroin could be easily checked if the operations in North China of the Maritime Customs authorities were not negated by the terms of a Sino-Japanese agreement establishing a demilitarised zone, where smuggling has been carried on with impunity. Foreign business men were alarmed at the scandalous state of affairs in North China—between October 1935 and April 1936 over 13,000 tons of sugar had been smuggled into Tientsin, and not a single bag of legitimately imported sugar had been sold.

Not only sugar, but enormous quantities of Japanese, rayon, matches and many other manufactures were being smuggled into China. The smuggling campaign encouraged by Japan was intended to break down the Chinese Government's resistance to demands for economic co-operation owing to the financial difficulties arising from the tremendous loss of Customs revenue (estimated at $50,000,000) during 1936 and thus facilitate the entry of North China into the suggested economic bloc with "Manchukuo" and Japan.

These points would be incomplete without mentioning Japanese activities in the drug traffic. Addressing the Opium Advisory Committee at Geneva in June this year, the U.S. Government delegate said that in the provinces of China where there is no Japanese influence, a sincere effort has been made to reduce the production of raw opium and this effort has met with surprising success. Where Japanese influence advances in the Far East, the drug traffic "goes with it." The production of both opium and other more dangerous narcotics in Manchuria has increased tremendously since the provinces came under Japanese influence.

It should be noted that in Japan vigorous measures are enforced against opium smoking and indulgence in similar drugs, but in foreign territory where Japan has taken over control it is fully recognised, and the infamous traffic actively encouraged and protected.

COMMUNISM IN CHINA

December 12, 1937

So much capital has been, and is being made, out of the allegedly communistic leanings of the Chinese Government and people that it is important to examine this matter in order to clear up the situation to those who may have been impressed and misled by such falsehoods. Persistent efforts have been made by Japan's apologists to represent the Kuomintang and the Comintern as being alike, and the complete destruction of the Chinese political party has been declared to be among Japan's present war aims.

It will be shown that the Kuomintang is as free from Communistic influence as the Nazi party, the Fascists, and the Japanese Government itself. Prince Konoye, the Japanese Premier, recently stated that it is a moral mission imposed upon Japan by her political structure and national policy "to prevent and suppress the evils of Communism." Japanese diplomats and business men, political leaders and journalists, pointed out that the wrong tactics had been adopted in relations with China, and that Japanese militarists were provoking hostility among the Chinese. Before taking office Prince Konoye recognised that the so-called "dual diplomacy" by Japan's soldiers and diplomats, instead of improving relationships, was having a very detrimental effect; now that he is Premier he discreetly forgets the part his countrymen played in creating bad feeling and pretends it was the "machinations" of the Comintern which led to the disastrous clash that has brought death and destruction to a nation struggling for rejuvenation.

If a serious danger to a nation's peace and security is apprehended, it is the duty of any Government to adopt such safeguards as appear necessary. This is precisely what was done by China when it was recognised, in 1927, that the Communists in the Republic were actively engaged in working against the national Government, whereupon they were expelled from the Kuomintang and the whole movement put under nation-wide proscription—as, of course, Japan is well aware. General Chiang Kai-shek—who of all men in the world should have known exactly how grave the Communist "menace" was, seeing that he was engaged in suppressing their activities in November last year declared that the dispersal of the surviving remnants in the North-West of the Communist forces was exclusively a domestic affair, and would never be affected by outside influences or international politics.

On August 21, 1937, while Japanese troops were fighting in "self-defence" in North China—a treaty of Non-Aggression was concluded between China and Soviet Russia. The provisions of this agreement consisted merely of mutual assurance of non-aggression and non-assistance to any aggressor who might attack either signatory. Vigorous attempts were made to represent this pact as affording new proof of secret understanding between the Kuomintang (as represented by the Chinese Government) and the Comintern (as represented by the Soviet Union). The fact was forgotten that Soviet Russia already had various agreements with other countries, none of which are favourably inclined towards Communism. Is not Japan's attitude in dividing China into small autonomous puppet states breeding the very incubus which will produce the empty rice bowl—and Communism?

ITALY AND THE LEAGUE

Germany Endorses Decision

Berlin, Dec. 12.
In connection with the Italian withdrawal from the League, General Goering's newspaper, the National Zeitung, of Essen, points to the "world political triangle of Germany, Italy and Japan," as the new combination of nations, adding, the League is now nothing more than an institution representing the interests of the old world, namely, Britain, France and Soviet Russia. Italy's exodus from the League is not an important factor, but the emphasis which is laid on the world political triangle will show the owners of the world that the era of insisting on one's property and denying every other nation its vital rights is steadily approaching its end.

Nazi Germany agrees wholeheartedly with Italy's step, and Germany believes that new peace organizations are growing up destined to take the League's place in the form of the Anti-Comintern Pact.—Reuter.

LONDON UNMOVED

Comment in well-informed circles in London is not unduly preoccupied by Signor Mussolini's speech.

The intention of the Italian Government to leave the League had already been anticipated, and the final decision to do so is regarded as little more than dejure recognition of a de facto situation, as, in fact, Italy had not taken part in meetings of the League since May, 1936.

There was never any disposition in London to regard the Italian decision to leave the League as due to pressure on the part of either Germany or Japan, as there was no apparent reason why they should wish to intervene. On the contrary, the view held here is that the Italian Government reached its decision from purely domestic considerations and difficulties, and for that reason there is no inclination to attach undue significance to the action taken. In any event, this decision will in no way affect the policy of the British Government.—Reuter.

Major Part Of China's Army Intact

Hankow, Dec. 11.
"Chinese troops will not abandon Nanking," declared a spokesman of the Chinese Foreign Office to-day, denying rumours to the contrary.

The troops at Nanking, he declared, were actually being re-inforced.

Only a few divisions are in or around the capital at the present time, since the greater part of the Chinese forces retired south of Nanchang.

The major portion of the Chinese army, therefore, is practically intact, and there is no question of surrender when Nanking falls.

Wild rumours are current in Hankow in view of the poor communication with the capital, as since occasionally telephonic and telegraphic messages get through. It is entirely impossible to receive adequate information on the actual facts.—

SOUTH AMERICAN DISPUTE ENDED

They also undertake to reach a pacific solution to the dispute.—Reuter.

The Government asserts that the decree will restore order in the Evangelical Church.—Reuter.

Tokyo, Dec. 12.
The Cabinet has accepted the resolution passed by the Five Minister conference to continue military operations after fall of Nanking.

STRONG CHINESE RESISTANCE OF NANKING SURPRISES JAPANESE

ARMY SPOKESMAN ADMITS GREAT DIFFICULTY OF UNDERTAKING

ALL-NIGHT ATTACK FAILS TO BREAK DOWN STUBBORN DEFENCES

SHANGHAI, DECEMBER 12. IT IS SEMI-OFFICIALLY REPORTED THAT SOME JAPANESE TROOPS CROSSED THE YANGTSE AT A POINT BETWEEN NANKING AND WUHU AND ARE NOW ADVANCING TO FUKOW. THE SUCCESS OF SUCH AN OPERATION WILL COMPLETELY ISOLATE THE CHINESE FORCES IN NANKING.

ALTHOUGH JAPAN IS CELEBRATING THE SUCCESS OF HER TROOPS, NANKING CITY IS FAR FROM FALLEN. A JAPANESE ARMY SPOKESMAN ADMITTED THAT THE CAPTURE OF THE CITY IS BY NO MEANS AN EASY TASK AND SAID IT IS ENCLOSED BY A WALL FIFTY FEET HIGH AND THIRTY-THREE FEET WIDE, AND A DEEP MOAT SIXTY-SIX FEET WIDE.

Tokyo: It is considered here that the triumphal Japanese entry into Nanking has been postponed from Sunday, possibly to Monday. Lull in the news from Nanking is presumed to indicate that the Japanese attack is progressing slowly. Japanese troops operating south of Nanking are reported to be advancing rapidly on Fukow in order to cut off the last avenue of retreat from the capital. These troops are stated to have crossed the Yangtse under cover of darkness last night.

After all night machine-gun and artillery duels, the Japanese forces besieging Nanking launched a fresh attack at daybreak in an attempt to smash the Chinese resistance, whose unexpectedly strong stand is making the Japanese task much more difficult and costly than anticipated. Reinforcements from points east of Nanking are being rushed to support the attackers.

A Japanese army spokesman admitted that the Chinese were putting up a bitter resistance. According to Japanese reports, the troops who were reported to have crossed the Yangtse yesterday at a point between Nanking and Wuhu are making good progress in their attempt to reach Fukow. Success this morning would isolate the Chinese defenders in Nanking and expose them to attack from the rear.—Reuter.

Japan Sends More Men To Shansi

Renewed Operations Foreshadowed After Lull In North

Linfen, Dec. 12: Large Japanese reinforcements have arrived at Taiyuan, capital of Shansi, presumably for a renewed southward invasion of Shansi, military advice reaching here to-day indicate.

Traffic on the Chengtai Railway has been resumed by the Japanese after the completion of repairs to the damaged track.—Central News.

DISGUISED GUERRILLA TROOPS

Linfen, Dec. 12: Disguised as coal-carriers, a party of Chinese guerrilla troops filtered into Hsichien, southwest of Shouyeng on the Chengtai Railway and made a surprise attack on the Japanese troops stationed there recently, inflicting a number of casualties on them and seizing many rifles, a report just received here reveals.—Central News.

CITY GATES CLOSED

Linfen, Dec. 12: After suffering several reverses at the hands of Chinese mobile units, the Japanese troops at points around Shouyeng, have been withdrawn into the city and barred the city gates, a military report states.

Attacked by Chinese mobile units from three sides, a detachment of Japanese troops at An-chialiang in the vicinity of Shouyeng, suffered more than 300 casualties and the loss of 60 rifles and a number of horses a few days ago. They were compelled to withdraw into the city together with other Japanese units.—Central News.

PING-HAN LULL

Peiping, Dec. 12. On the Peiping-Hankow Railway front Japan has contented herself with forming the "Autonomous Honan Provincial Government" at Changteh, just south of the Hopei border. No military operations are reported in this sector at this time.

In Shansi Chinese reports claim far-flung Japanese columns have suffered serious setbacks below Taiyuanfu. The Japanese denied this claim strenuously but have been almost completely reticent about Shansi developments since the fall of Taiyuanfu nearly a month ago. They admit their communications are shaky, involving delays in replenishing supplies.

The Japanese say the Tatung-Taiyuanfu highway through the mountains is still open but Chinese reports reiterate Communist troops still occupy the passes for sniping purposes and at times have wiped out Nippon motor caravans.

On the East Shansi narrow-gauge railway, the Japanese captured three locomotives and less than 100 cars, according to Japanese returning from the area. The region, they said, is overrun with armed remnants of the Chinese army. The remaining rolling stock is behind the Chinese lines somewhere in South Shansi.—International News Agency.

ORGANISING IRREGULAR TROOPS

Linfen, Dec. 12: Upon the instigation of the Japanese, Wong Ying, notorious bandit chieftain, is recruiting able-bodied men at Taiyuan to organize more "Manchukuo" irregular units.

Two divisions of "Manchukuo" irregular troops under the command of Li Shou-hsin have been sent to Paotao to reinforce the Japanese garrison there. Strong defence works have been constructed outside the city gates.

Li himself has proceeded to Suiyuan on an unknown mission.—Central News.

8TH ROUTE ARMY

Sinhsiang, Honan, Dec. 12. Quiet reigns on the entire North China front, according to Chinese reports which state that the Japanese are busily engaged in setting up political administrations in occupied territory, and also in meeting the repeated attacks of Chinese mobile units belonging to the 8th Route Army, also under the command of Gen. Sun Tien-ying.

Japanese troops in South Shansi, according to these same reports, have withdrawn to eastern Shansi and northern Shansi to protect the Peiping-Suiyuan, Peiping-Hankow and Chengtai Railways.

JAPANESE HARASSED

The 8th Route Army, totalling between 50,000 and 60,000 men, are scattered amongst the Taihanshan mountains on the Hopei, Honan, and Shansi borders, and also in the vicinity of the Liangtssekan passes.

Gen. Sun Tien-ying's troops, totalling 15,000 men, are scattered on the north and south banks of the Huto River, also in the vicinity of Hsintangmingkou, Shuihhiach-wang and Shunthet.

These Chinese mobile units, which hide in the daytime and raid at night, are giving the greatest trouble to the Japanese.

The only activity on the North China front are confined to Japanese aircraft, which are daily bombing Chinese positions.—Reuter.

Italy Deserts League

MUSSOLINI MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

ROME, DECEMBER 12. SIGNOR MUSSOLINI HAS ANNOUNCED THAT ITALY IS LEAVING THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The announcement was made from the balcony of the Palazzo Venezia to a cheering crowd of one hundred thousand. The Duce said he was making an important announcement for the history of "our Italy and our revolution." The good intentions of a certain government were frowned upon, as their delegates entered into contact with the fatal surroundings of the Sanhedrin of Geneva which was manoeuvred by hidden and shady sources, prejudicial to Italy.

In these conditions our presence at the door of Geneva is no longer tolerable. Our doctrine, and the style and temperament of our soldiers have perished. The hour has approached when it is necessary to make a choice. Are we to remain inside the League?

There were shouts of "no."

Are we to go out? shouts of "yes."

NO PRESSURE

The Duce said: We are moving forward and away without regret from a tottering temple where men do not work for peace but for war. He emphatically denied that any pressure was put on Italy to determine their attitude. Our comrades of the axis Berlin-Tokyo have shown absolute discretion. This is the truth.

The withdrawal of Italy from the League of Nations is an event of great historical importance which has drawn the attention of the world and whose consequences cannot yet be foreseen. It is not for this that we shall abandon our fundamental line of policy which aims at collaboration and peace.

PROUD BOAST

The Duce said that during the last few days "we offered luminous proof by creating peace in the Adriatic (apparently referring to the Italo-Yugoslav understanding) and the threatening voices which have been raised from time to time, and will perhaps be again raised from the flocks of great democracies leave us perfectly indifferent. They can do nothing against a people like the Italians who are capable of any sacrifices. We have the arms of sky, land and sea, numerous and tempered by two victorious wars, but above all we have the heroic spirit of revolution which no force in the world will ever be able to bend."

THE RESIGNATION

Rome, Dec. 12. Count Ciano sent a telegram to the Secretary-General of the League as follows: "Following the decisions of the Grand Fascist Council, I have to inform you that as from December 11, 1937, Italy leaves the League of Nations."—Reuter.

JAPANESE AT CHANGTEH RESUME ATTACK

Hsinhsiang, Dec. 11: After a long lull, the Japanese troops at Changteh on the Peiping-Hankow Railway in north Honan have renewed their attack on Chinese positions. It is learned from military sources.

Repeated Japanese offensives by the Japanese, however, have been repelled by the Chinese defenders whose positions remain intact.—Central News.

JAPAN WON'T RISK CAPTURE OF HANKOW

Viscount Ishii Quotes Napoleon's Moscow Tragedy

"BUT WILL REMAIN IN NANKING"

London, Dec. 12. Viscount Ishii, in an interview with the "Sunday Times," stated that Japan had no territorial aims in China or in respect of Chinese islands such as Hainan, and would continue to respect both the rights and interests of foreign Powers in China as long as those Powers maintained an attitude of strict neutrality. These were the two cardinal points of Japanese policy.

"I am convinced that with the fall of Nanking the Japanese armies will not pursue Chiang Kai-shek further into the interior of China. To do so would be to court the disaster that befell Napoleon at Moscow, but Japan must remain in occupation of Nanking until a settlement is reached with Chiang Kai-shek. The local Chinese administrations will continue to be left in control wherever they are willing to co-operate with Japan, but if Chiang Kai-shek refuses to come to terms the Japanese military occupation will have to be continued and funds will have to be raised by taxation to support the Army. I am sure that for the sake of China, it is not in his personal interests, Chiang will, before long, be compelled to sue for peace."

A FRIENDLY CHINA

Viscount Ishii added that Chiang Kai-shek had now established very close relations with Russia, but Russia could assist Chiang only by air as it would take months to convey Russian arms to Chungking.

"Without arms and money Chiang was bound in time to give up the fight, but may remain as the spearhead of communism in China though I will not say he is a communist himself," said the Viscount. Regarding Russia, Viscount Ishii admitted that here lay Japan's chief military preoccupation although he thought Russia's internal dissensions at present prevented her playing a strong hand in the Far East.

Questioned re foreign rights and interest in China, Viscount Ishii told the "Sunday Times" service on foreign loans secured on the customs and land regulations dating back to 1842 on which the authority of the Shanghai Municipal Council rested, would continue to be respected by Japan. He added that the entire Chinese nation at present was hostile to Japan and Chinese merchants dared not trade with Japanese, but he was convinced trade would revive with the establishment of peace.

Viscount Ishii thought China might in the future change her feelings towards Japan. Japan's sole aim was to create a friendly China. This applied to all China.

WARNING TO FRANCE

Proceeding, Viscount Ishii said Japan had no legal grounds for asking the Powers not to sell arms to China. Since war had not been declared and belligerent rights had not been claimed, but France had been informed that if transit of arms through French Indo China continued, Japan might be compelled to bomb French railways running from Hanoi across the border northwards to Yunnan and eastward to Nanning.

The "Sunday Times" Diplomatic Correspondent states there is little doubt Viscount Ishii was speaking at the interview with the full authority of the Tokyo Government and adds that the difficulties of his mission here are obvious. The people here will not soon forget the shooting of Sir Hughie Knatchbull-Hugessen, the killing of British soldiers who had not committed any offence against Japan, the bombing of British ships engaged in peaceful commerce, and the destruction of British property ashore.

"The long view rather than the short one is taken on the chances of China maintaining her independence. It is still believed that in the end Chinese nationalism will emerge triumphant over military disaster."

The correspondent adds that the renewal of Japanese assurance in respect of foreign rights and interests in China is welcomed here, but it was felt that the proof of the pudding is in the eating.—Reuter.

PUPPET STATES

That Japan should have no territorial aims in China makes it obvious that she intends to create puppet administrations after the model of Manchukuo, adds the "Sunday Times" Diplomatic Correspondent. This will be an expensive task and the inevitable aftermath of increased taxation, rising prices and probably loss of trade may prove an intolerable burden.

With regard to Viscount Ishii's use of the phrase "strict neutrality," the diplomatic correspondent states: "It is permissible to ask whether, in the event of Japan successfully setting up puppet administrations in Peiping, Tientsin, Shanghai and Nanking, which Great Britain would refuse to recognize, Japan would consider this 'strict neutrality' had been compromised. Important issues will be involved if Britain one day were faced with the question whether or not to recognise further changes in China when Chiang Kai-shek was still in control of Canton and the South. There is the further difficulty that recognition of territorial changes must, so long as Britain remains at Geneva, be made within the framework of the League."—Reuter.

SOVIET ELECTION SENSATION

Moscow, Dec. 12. A sensation has been caused by the news that M. Mezhlank, deputy president of the Council of Peoples Commissars, has been erased from the list of election candidates and replaced by M. Krenkel, wireless operator of the Soviet Arctic expedition, now on a drifting iceflo.

Newspapers and speakers from radio stations throughout the country are urging a hundred per cent poll, extolling the Soviet system and emphasising M. Stalin's contributions to world peace and urging a merciless war against Fascism and Trotskyism.—Reuter.

London, Dec. 12. Communications between the American and British Governments relating to British war debt were issued last night as a White Paper.

MILLION HUNANESE WILL BE TRAINED

Three-Point War-Time Student Programme

Changsha, Dec. 12: One million people in Hunan will have undergone war-time training within half a year, if a programme just mapped out by the provincial authorities is successfully carried out.

According to the programme, 3,400 middle school students, and 400 college students will be selected and subjected to a period of war-time training. Afterwards they will be sent to different districts and municipalities to help the local authorities in giving similar training to the masses.

Such training, the programme provides, will have three phases, military training, spiritual training and productive training.—Central News.

MORALE HIGH

Hankow, Dec. 12. How long the Chinese will be able to withstand the Japanese attack is difficult to estimate. The morale of the Chinese forces is high, said General Tang Sheng-chih, who adds that in the event of Japanese troops entering Nanking the Chinese will find themselves in a better position to offer resistance because the further the

"STILL PREMATURE"

Tokyo, Dec. 12. Despite the victories of the Japanese troops in the Nanking area and the fact that the capture of the Chinese capital forms the major objective, it is "still premature" for the nation to conclude that the Sino-Japanese conflict has reached the final stage, the Japanese army authorities declare. They voiced the hope that the nation would not be "too much elated" over the victories in the Nanking direction.

Attention is drawn to the fact in Japan that the realisation of whole-hearted co-operation with the Chinese is one of her paramount desires—this will depend on the future strenuous efforts of the Japanese nation.

The military authorities expressed the desire that the people would honour the souls of the war dead now enshrined in the Yasukuni Shrine and comfort the sick and wounded rather than indulge in celebrations.—Reuter.

PEOPLE DRIVEN FROM CITY

Ningpo, Dec. 12. Japanese air raids have driven the people from the city into the neighbouring rural district, Chinese sources declare. A general exodus from Ningpo began last month when Japanese aircraft made frequent raids on Chekiang. The commercial district of Ningpo near the East Gate is practically deserted as most people have gone to the countryside and only a few shops remain open.—Reuter.

REINFORCEMENTS BEING SENT TO TAIHU LAKE AREA

Hangchow, Dec. 12: More Chinese reinforcements are being sent from Changching to Wusheng on the south bank of Taihu Lake, where the Chinese troops are closing in on the Japanese in an attempt to dislodge them.

It is estimated that about 10,000 Japanese troops are now concentrated on the Wusheng front, which extends from Wusheng southward to Linghu. Meanwhile, Chinese defence works in and around Hangchow have been strengthened as a precaution against attack from the Japanese.—Central News.

CHINESE FORCES RECAPTURE TANGYI

Tsinan, Dec. 12: After two days' occupation by the Japanese troops, Tangyi on the west Shantung border was recaptured by the Chinese forces yesterday, a report just received here states.

Advancing from three directions the Chinese forces enveloped the city and engaged the Japanese in a bitter engagement. Sustaining heavy casualties, the Japanese finally broke through the Chinese cordon and retreated to Kuanhsien, west of Tangyi.—Central News.

JAPANESE BOMBERS RAID SIAM

Siam, Dec. 12: Continuing to carry their raiding activities into the inland provinces, another fleet of 12 Japanese heavy bombers launched an unsuccessful attack on Siam late this afternoon.

Shortly after the planes were sighted heading for the Siam capital, Chinese pursuit planes took to the air while the anti-aircraft guns opened barrage on the invading machines. After flying over the city, the planes were driven away, dropping scores of bombs on the western outskirts of the city. The "all-clear" signal was given at 8.20 p.m.—Central News.

NAVY WIN
AGAINTRIANGULAR
TOURNAMENT
RUGBY SUCCESS

In a spectacular game on the Club ground on Saturday, the Royal Navy won the second match of the Triangular Rugby Tournament series to put themselves two up. The winners led by 11 clear points at the interval but the Club staged a fine rally in the second half and at one time more than held their own. The Navy came back however, and the final tally was 22 points (two goals and four tries) to 13 points (two goals and a try).

Lt. Walsham, who played such a great game in the encounter against the Army, was again seen to advantage, and his clever handling brought rounds of applause. Lt. Cotman, the regular full-back, was not available, but Surg.-Lt. Ellis filled the vacancy ably. For the losers, J. C. Miller, D. H. Stewart and K. A. Watson performed well. Teams:—

Club 1st XV:—W. M. MacGrath; D. H. Stewart, H. D. Bidwell, W. E. Grieve and H. Van Leeuwen; A. H. R. Butcher and J. L. Bonnar; K. A. Watson, K. W. Salter, A. W. Holden; W. E. Peers, C. F. Needham; J. C. Miller (Captain), A. J. G. Taylor and F. A. Redman.

PLYMOUTH
ARGYLE

Sent £6,000 Wisely

Plymouth Argyle 2
Sheffield U. 0
After two disappointing months, during which they degenerated into a poor and disheartened side, Plymouth Argyle won their first match since their opening game in a decisive manner.
They took 10 minutes to settle down, but once they had lost the inferiority complex so evident in recent games, they played with the confidence and polish of League leaders.

The principal factor in this metamorphosis was probably the introduction of two new players, Clark and Bourton, transferred during the last 10 days from Sunderland and Coventry at a cost of something like £8,000. Clark, at centre-half, looked after Dodds so efficiently that not once could the Sheffield leader get in a shot. Bourton, at centre-forward, was not only a quick-thinking leader but an inspiration to forwards who needed inspiring so badly.

It was not until the second half that Argyle's strenuous efforts to outwit the brilliant defence maintained by Hooper and Cox succeeded. Then Wright forced his way through for the first goal, and in the last minute Vidler, the hardest worker on the field, scored from a pass from Bourton.

AMBITIOUS JAPANESE LEADERS

Tokyo, Dec. 11.

Hitherto the scope of Japan's economic plans on the Asiatic continent have been confined to North China, but "due to the fall of Nanking," the views of leading financiers, business-men and industrialists have undergone a sweeping change.

They are now apparently inclined to believe that plans must be drawn up covering the whole of North, Central and South China, declares the semi-official
"Japan Times."

The journal adds that Japanese business leaders are seriously thinking out plans for reconstruction of Chinese currency, transportation, communications, aviation and navigation systems, which are fundamental factors in China's economic structure.

The chairman of the Mitsubishi Interests points out that the immediate question of grave importance is what will become of the Chinese national currency.

Meanwhile, financial circles voice the hope of co-operation with a new China "divorced of anti-Japanism and pro-Communism."

Mr. Chokuro Kadono, chairman of the Japanese Chamber of Commerce and Industry, says that Japan must pay serious attention to the future attitude of China and also that of other foreign Powers.

Baron Goh, chairman of the Japan Economic Federation, says the future problem of special importance is the economic development of North China.—Reuter.

FAMOUS HOTEL DESTROYED

Shanghai, Dec. 11.

A message from Nanking states that the Bridge House Hotel was struck by a shell to-day and set on fire and completely destroyed.
The hotel, which is situated near the terminus of the Shanghai-Nanking Railway, is one of the oldest in Nanking.

Many distinguished travellers had stayed at the hotel, the proprietress of which, an Englishwoman named Mrs. C. Sim, evacuated with other Britons on December 9.

It is believed that the Duke of Kent, then Prince George, stayed at the hotel when he visited Nanking while a naval officer on the China Station.—Reuter.

2 JAPANESE FLIERS KILLED DURING CANTON-HANKOW LINE RAID

Canton, Dec. 11: An official investigation completed to-night reveals that two Japanese airmen were shot and killed and another taken prisoner when their plane was shot down by Chinese anti-aircraft guns during an air raid
this morning along the Canton-Hankow Railway in the vicinity of Yingtak, about 150 kilometres north of Canton.

It is learned that nine planes took part in the raid and in addition to the one machine brought down another plane was seriously damaged by Chinese gunfire but managed to escape.

After attacking the Canton-Hankow line the planes turned south and rained a number of bombs on Tientungwa station on the Canton-Kowloon Railway as well as the village. Reports received here this evening state that scores of houses were razed to the ground while a number of civilians were killed and injured.

Four more planes appeared over both railways again later in the afternoon dropping bombs along a number of stations, including Nganchanau, Kuntien and Nam-kong. No details have been received on the second bombing.—Central News.

DEFECTION MOVEMENT AMONG "MANCHUKUO" TROOPS APOOT

Linfen, Dec. 11: A defection movement among disgruntled
"Manchukuo" irregulars in Chahar and Suiyuan is reported on foot.
These irregular units are said to have long been dissatisfied with the way the Japanese military treat them. With the approach of winter they are left in dire need of food and warm clothing.

Instigated by Chinese volunteers, they are planning to surrender to the Chinese side.—Central News.

JAPANESE AT CHIHSHIEN STRENGTHEN DEFENCE

Linfen, Dec. 11: In anticipation of an imminent attack from the Chinese troops which are moving northward from Pingyao the Japanese troops at Chihshien on the Tungpu Railway south of Taiyuan are strengthening their defence works, a military report reaching here to-day states.

Sandbags and barbed-wire barricades have been placed outside the city gates which have been closed as a precautionary measure.

The report adds that there are still about 1,000 Japanese troops in the vicinity of Yutze southeast of Taiyuan.—Central News.

NON-RECOGNITION PUT TO THE TEST

Legal Fiction Exploded By Fascist States

SELF-INTEREST OF NATIONS

BY SIM KHIN LIN

After many months of tense expectation and heated discussion, the only tangible fruits of the Sino-Japanese controversy in the League of Nations were the Lytton Report, which condemned the aggression of Japan, and the adoption of a resolution by the Assembly that it was "incumbent upon the Members of the League of Nations not to recognize any situation, treaty or agreement which may be brought about by means contrary to the Covenant of the League of Nations or to the Pact of Paris." As a result, the non-recognition of "Manchukuo" was adopted by non-member states and all member-states, except the small state of Salvador and Japan.

However poor consolation this was to China when compared to her tremendous sacrifice of life and the loss of Manchuria, the non-recognition of "Manchukuo"
was a moral sanction against Japan which did not merely remain a verbal condemnation. By it the legal fiction was recognized and actually put into practice by the various Governments of the world that, for all international relations, the puppet Government of "Manchukuo" did not exist legally or in fact.

Although non-recognition of "Manchukuo" was all that the self-interest of nations permitted to be done, it expressed the determination of nations to discourage resort to armed force in international relations, and to uphold the solemn obligations of the League Covenant and the Peace Pact of Paris. As such it was a warning to lawless nations who persisted in following a grab-and-take policy in international relations. The non-recognition was therefore an unpleasant thorn in the side of aggressor nations.

ILLICIT PLUNDER

Unfortunately, pricking is all that non-recognition can do, for non-recognition comes in only when the aggressor is in possession of his illicit plunder. At the same time, it is also a confession of inability to deal with a situation created by force, since non-recognition itself implies recognition that solemn obligations have been violated by an existing situation. Seen in this light it may even be said to encourage nations who see in force the key to national expansion.

This inability is further exposed by the recent de jure recognition of "Manchukuo" by Italy. The non-recognition of "Manchukuo"
was in fact the recognition of a situation, though this was not admitted by a legal fiction. Unluckily for peace-loving nations, dictators see through fiction, but will not stop to play at fiction.
The recognition of "Manchukuo" by Italy has torn the veil from the doctrine of non-recognition, and exposed it nakedly as another sanction of international law at the mercy of cold force.

How much longer nations will continue to play at sanctions without being wholeheartedly willing to make national efforts and sacrifices is a question of the future. The immediate problem is that nations to-day dare not, or simply refuse to, face issues which confront them in the present.

A WARNING

When the Anti-Comintern Pact was signed by Germany, Italy, and Japan, it was also, besides its expressed intentions, a diplomatic warning to the world of the close relationship of nations who were determined to use force to open the way for national aspirations.
When they shook hands and conferred, the world armed in expectancy, and when they acted, the world hastily continued to arm, and expostulated by appealing to the principles of inter-

HEAVY CASUALTIES IN NANKING FIGHT

Hankow, Dec. 11: Heavy casualties have been sustained by both the Chinese and Japanese sides in the sanguinary engagements around Nanking, according to a report received by a local military organ from Nanking.

Seesaw operations around Chihshien, in the east Nanking suburbs resulted in 3,000 Japanese casualties, whilst a heavy toll of lives was paid by the Japanese for their attacks on Kwanghuamen, the southeast gate where the Chinese defenders, taking a

STALIN CHEERED
AT MOSCOWGreat Progress Of Socialism

Moscow, Dec. 12.
M. Stalin, making his first speech on the Soviet elections to a crowded meeting at the Boloi Theatre, eulogised the manner in which the election was being conducted, and referred to the progress made in socialism in Russia in the past ten years.

"Our elections are the only ones in the whole world which are really free and democratic," Stalin continued. "In our country Socialism is not merely being built but has already become part of the life of the people some ten years ago. The question could still be discussed whether socialism could be built in our country or not. Today it is no longer a question for discussions. To-day it is a matter of facts, a matter of real life, a matter of habits that permeate the whole life of the people."

Stalin's arrival on the platform was greeted with prolonged cheering after which he confessed he had no intention to speak but was dragged to the meeting. He is candidate for the supreme Soviet from the Stalin area of Moscow where the meeting was held.

Before Stalin spoke workers, intellectuals and housewives pointed out to the audience the great honour of voting for Stalin.

Every mention of Stalin's name was greeted with applause.

EDUCATION IN MALAYA

Notable Lecture

The Trinity County School had a really good lantern lecture recently when Mr. L. A. S. Jermyn, of the Colonial Education Service of Malaya, addressed an audience of some 250 pupils, old scholars, parents and friends, writes a Home Correspondent.

His lecture, "Malaya in Black and White and in Colour," was illustrated by slides from his own photographs, these proving to be so beautiful that the audience repeatedly burst into applause.

Mr. Jermyn rather astonished his hearers (and, of course, delighted the philatelists) by recounting the geographical make-up of Malaya: (1) the Straits Settlements—a Crown Colony, including Singapore Island; Penang; Malacca; the Dindings; Labuan, etc.; (2) the Federated Malay States of Perak, Pahang, Selangor, Negri Sembilan; (3) the "protected" native States, e.g. Johore, Kelantan, Trengganu, Kedah Perlis; (4) Southern Siam.

The Malacca banyan tree, lotus, ricefield, rubber plantation, water buffalo, etc. came under review, while his personal experiences in educating the native to some European examination standards were a revelation to somewhat parochial minds.

Mr. W. B. Edwards, the geography master, who had arranged the proceedings, was the chairman. He introduced the lecturer as a man who was an authority on education overseas, a traveller, and a lover of youth. Incidentally, he remarked that at his geographical society—one of the school's activities for many years—had been suspended, he welcomed the lecturer on a broader basis.

He read a telegram from our M. P. congratulating the school on its attempt to seek the truth in this way on the Empire.

Councillor Leech (a governor) proposed and the school captains (Robert and Esme Aven) seconded a vote of thanks to the accompaniment of loud and sustained applause. The headmaster afterwards entertained the visitors to light refreshments admirably served by the prefects.

HEAVY CIVILIAN CASUALTIES

Nanking, Dec. 12: With Japanese air raids on the city following one after the other in quick succession casualties among the non-combatants at Nanking are mounting hourly, and more and more buildings inside and outside the city are reduced to ruins.

Many bombs landed in the refugee zone, taking heavy toll of lives and blasting large numbers of houses to a shambles. People in the zone are kept in a constant nervous strain by the continuous raids.

Owing to the emergency situation, it is difficult to get exact figures of civilian casualties, but it is believed that they are extremely heavy, both because of the terrific bombardment and because of the poor medical facilities in the zone.

Bucharest, Dec. 12.
The visit of M. Delbos to Rumania ended to-day when he departed for Yugoslavia. The visit is said to have strengthened Franco-Rumanian relations including the permanent co-operation between the General Staffs of the two countries and supplies of the latest type of war materials to Rumania by France. It is understood that Rumania is definitely opposing a revision of treaties.

NANKING ENTRY DENIED

Hankow, Dec. 12: Reports of the entry of Japanese troops into Nanking city were emphatically denied by a spokesman of the Chinese Government in an interview with the Central News Agency late last night.

The spokesman said that a high government official here had just communicated with General Tang Sheng-chi, Garrison Commander of Nanking, by long-distance telephone and had learned the latest situation in Nanking.

According to General Tang, a detachment of Japanese troops did succeed in forcing their way into Kwanghuamen, the south-east gate, after battering several breaches in the city wall with heavy artillery. But they were immediately surrounded by the Chinese troops defending the gate and were practically decimated. About 500 slain Japanese were strown at the gateway.

BREACHES MENDED

After the repulsion of the invaders, Chinese labour troops. General Tang said, immediately mended the breaches in the city wall and reinforcements were placed at the gate.

General Tang revealed that bitter fighting was still raging around Purple Mountain and Yuhualai, a strategic hill outside Chungchuanmen, the south gate, which is famous for its beautiful coloured pebbles.

General Tang said that the morale of the Chinese troops was remarkable, all being determined to fight to the last.
